I'm American, living abroad, and fly frequently to the US and UK. I do think that it would be an extremely tense situation on long flights to use cell phones. Perhaps using them on short (less than 1 hr) flights is reasonable, as these are typically business flights and are not as irritating as long flights, comfort-wise.